Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 07 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold and frosty before Storm Barra arrives.

Today:
A frosty start with a risk of icy stretches. Turning very windy through the morning with severe coastal gales and large waves. Outbreaks of rain, sleet and hill snow will push eastwards, with blizzard conditions possible on the highest routes. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Tonight:
Turning drier and clearer overnight with a blustery showers of heavy rain, hail and hill snow through the night. Remaining cold. Minimum temperature -1 deg C (30 deg F).

Wednesday:
Remaining windy with sunny spells and blustery showers. Another cold day, particularly along exposed coasts. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Drier, calmer and possibly brighter on Thursday. Perhaps breezier with some rain on Friday. Cold with further hills snow at times. Milder on Saturday but cloudy with further rain.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.